Please note: Complete the form in a legible manner. The processing fee for each check or ACH Direct Deposit is $30.00 and for each 1099R is $30.00. These fees will be deducted from your account upon completion of the distribution request. Please read the Special Tax Notice that describes the tax implications of the payment and transfer options included with this form. By signing this form prior to 30 days after you receive it, you are electing to waive the 30-day notice period. The ACH Direct Deposit Authorization Agreement is not required. Fill out the form, print it, sign it, then either fax the completed Hardship Withdrawal Request Form to 919-942-2804 or mail the form to PlanPerfect, Inc., 3713-C University Drive, Durham, NC 27707.

I understand that a withdrawal of salary deferrals will be considered due to financial hardship up to the extent that the amount of the withdrawal is necessary to satisfy an immediate and heavy financial need. I represent that I have obtained all distributions, other than a withdrawal of salary deferrals due to financial hardship, and all other non-taxable loans currently available to me under the Plan, as well as all other plans maintained by the Company. I understand that this withdrawal will be taxable as ordinary income in the calendar year in which I receive it. In addition, a 10% penalty tax may apply unless I am at least 59-1/2 years of age.

IRS rules require that you stop making contributions to the 401(k) plan for at least 6 months upon taking this hardship withdrawal.

The IRS allows the following reasons for taking a hardship withdrawal in the plan. Check the one which applies to you and provide copies of documents that support the hardship withdrawal. See examples of documentation needed included.

- To purchase applicant's principal residence
- To prevent eviction from or foreclosure on applicant's principal residence
- To pay for college tuition expenses for applicant or family member
- To pay medical expenses for applicant or family member
- To pay funeral expenses for family member

Hardship Documentation Examples

(This is not an all inclusive list)

1. To purchase applicant's principal residence

- Lending agency's pre-approval with good faith estimate, specific to the named property.
- Mortgage application for the named property with good faith estimate.
- Copy of the purchase agreement for the named property signed by the buyer and seller that includes the closing date and balance of the purchase price.

2. To prevent eviction from or foreclosure on applicant's principal residence

- Notice of foreclosure or eviction on company letterhead of the mortgage lender, collection agency, or other stating the date of impending foreclosure/eviction and the dollar amount needed to prevent such action.
- Demand For Possession Nonpayment of Rent (tenant's copy).
- If you rent from a private landlord as opposed to a rental company, a copy of your lease agreement is required.
- If the foreclosure/eviction notice is not in your name, provide additional documentation verifying that you reside at the property (ex. utility bill in your name).

3. To pay for college tuition expenses for applicant or family member

- Tuition (Registration) bill from the University/College with student's name, semester date, and amount due. The bill must be for the current quarter/semester in which the student is enrolled and/or up to 12 months into the future. (No reimbursement for past schooling is permitted.)
- Invoices/bills of related educational fees or room and board expense (from University/College housing) for the current quarter/semester in which the student is enrolled and/or up to 12 months into the future.

4. To pay medical expenses for applicant or family member

- Medical billing statements identifying the name of the patient, date of service and amount paid or due. (The Explanation of Benefits provided from your medical provider is not a bill.)
- Dental billing statements indentifying the name of the patient, date of service and amount paid or due.
- Prescription receipts or summaries, identifying the name of the patient, date of prescription, and amount paid.
- Vision services receipts for exams, eyeglasses, contact lens, or surgical procedures; identifying the name of the patient, date of service, and amount paid or due.

5. To pay funeral expenses for family member

- An estimate, bill or invoice for services rendered.

ACH Direct Deposit Authorization Agreement

- For your security, and to assure an accurate transfer of funds, complete this entire form in a legible manner and attach a voided check where indicated below.
- The routing and account numbers on this form must be identical to the routing and account numbers on your voided check.
- The payer name on the voided check must match the plan participant's name.
- If a voided check is not available, or if the account number or routing number provided on this form is different than on the voided check, include a letter from the bank or financial institution on their letterhead. Have the letter signed by an authorized representative of the bank and indicate the name of the account holder and provide the routing and account numbers to be used by PlanPerfect, Inc. for ACH purposes.

I hereby authorize PlanPerfect, Inc. to initiate credit entries or such adjusting entries, either debit or credit which are necessary for corrections, to my checking or savings account indicated below and the financial institution named below to credit (or debit) the same to such account.

SPECIAL TAX NOTICE REGARDING PLAN PAYMENTS¹

To: _____

From: _____ (“Plan”)

Date: _____

This notice explains how you can continue to defer federal income tax on your retirement plan savings in the Plan and contains important information you will need before you decide how to receive your Plan benefits. All references to “the Code” are references to the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended. This notice summarizes only the federal (not state or local) tax rules which apply to your distribution. Because these rules are complex and contain many conditions and exceptions which we do not discuss in this notice, you may need to consult with a professional tax advisor before you receive your distribution from the Plan.

A. TYPES OF PLAN DISTRIBUTIONS

Eligibility for rollover. The Code classifies distributions into two types: (1) distributions you may roll over (“eligible rollover distributions”) and (2) distributions you may not roll over. See “Distributions not eligible for rollover” below. You also may receive a distribution under which part of the distribution is an eligible rollover distribution and part is not eligible for rollover. A rollover is a payment by you or the Plan Administrator of all or part of your benefit to another plan or IRA that allows you to continue to postpone taxation of that benefit until it is paid to you (except for a rollover from a pre-tax account to a Roth IRA, described in the last paragraph of Section B below). The Plan Administrator will assist you in identifying which portion of your distribution is an eligible rollover distribution and which portion is not eligible for rollover.

Plans that may accept a rollover. You may roll over an eligible rollover distribution (other than Roth 401(k) plan deferrals and earnings) either to a Roth IRA (provided for distributions before January 1, 2010, your adjusted gross income for the taxable year of the distribution does not exceed $100,000 and you are not married filing a separate income tax return), to a traditional IRA or to an eligible employer plan that accepts rollovers. An “eligible employer plan” includes a plan qualified under Code §401(a), including a 401(k) plan, profit sharing plan, defined benefit plan, stock bonus plan (including an ESOP) or money purchase plan; a §403(a) annuity plan; a 403(b) plan; and an eligible §457(b) plan maintained by a governmental employer (governmental 457 plan). Special rules apply to the rollover of after-tax contributions and of Roth 401(k) deferrals. See “After-tax contributions and Roth 401(k) plan deferrals” below. YOU MAY NOT ROLL OVER ANY DISTRIBUTION TO A SIMPLE IRA OR A COVERDELL EDUCATION SAVINGS ACCOUNT (FORMERLY KNOWN AS AN EDUCATIONAL IRA).

Deciding where to roll over a distribution. An eligible employer plan is not legally required to accept a rollover. Before you decide to roll over your payment to another employer plan, you should find out whether the plan accepts rollovers and, if so, the types of distributions it accepts as a rollover. Even if a plan accepts rollovers, it might not accept rollovers of certain types of distributions, such as after-tax amounts. If this is the case, and your distribution includes after-tax amounts, you may wish instead to roll your distribution over to an IRA or to split your rollover amount between the employer plan in which you will participate and an IRA. You also should find out about any documents you must complete before a receiving plan or IRA sponsor will accept a rollover. If an employer plan accepts your rollover, the plan may restrict subsequent distributions of the rollover amount or may require your spouse’s consent for any subsequent distribution. A subsequent distribution from the plan that accepts your rollover also may be subject to different tax treatment than distributions from this Plan. Check with the administrator of the plan that is to receive your rollover regarding subsequent distributions and taxation of the amount you will roll over, prior to making the rollover.

Distributions not eligible for rollover. An eligible rollover distribution means any distribution to you of all or any portion of your account balance under the Plan except: (1) a distribution which is part of a series of substantially equal periodic payments; (2) a required minimum distribution; (3) a hardship distribution; (4) an ESOP dividend; (5) a corrective distribution; or (6) a loan treated as a distribution.

Substantially equal periodic payments. You may not roll over a distribution if it is part of a series of substantially equal payments made at least once a year and which will last for: (1) your lifetime (or your life expectancy), (2) your lifetime and your beneficiary's lifetime (or life expectancies), or (3) a period of 10 years or more.

Required minimum distributions. Beginning in the year in which occurs the later of your retirement or your attainment of age 70½, the Code may require the Plan to make "required minimum distributions" to you. You may not roll over the required minimum distributions. Special rules apply if you own more than 5% of the Employer.

Hardship distributions. A hardship distribution is not eligible for rollover.

ESOP dividends. Cash dividends paid to you on employer stock held in an employee stock ownership plan cannot be rolled over.

Corrective distributions. A distribution from the plan to correct a failed nondiscrimination test or because legal limits on certain contributions were exceeded cannot be rolled over.

Loans treated as taxable "deemed" distributions. The amount of a plan loan that becomes a taxable deemed distribution because of a default cannot be rolled over. However, a loan offset amount is eligible for rollover, as discussed in Part C. below. Ask the Plan Administrator if distribution of your loan qualifies for rollover treatment.

After-tax Contributions and Roth 401(k) plan deferrals.²

After-tax/rollover into an IRA. You may roll over your after-tax contributions to an IRA (including, for distributions after December 31, 2009, a Roth IRA) either directly or indirectly. For distributions before January 1, 2010, you may roll over your after-tax contributions to a Roth IRA, provided your adjusted gross income for the taxable year of the distribution does not exceed $100,000 and you are not married filing a separate income tax return. The Plan Administrator will assist you in identifying how much of your payment is the taxable portion and how much is the after-tax portion. If you roll over after-tax contributions to an IRA, it is your responsibility to keep track of, and report to the IRS on the applicable forms, the amount of these after-tax contributions. This will enable you to determine the nontaxable amount of any future distributions from the IRA. Once you roll over your after-tax contributions to an IRA, you may NOT later roll over those amounts to an employer plan, but may roll over your after-tax contributions to another IRA.

After-tax/rollover into an employer plan. You may DIRECTLY roll over after-tax contributions from the Plan to another qualified plan (including a defined benefit plan) or to a 403(b) plan if the other plan will accept the rollover and provides separate accounting for amounts rolled over, including separate accounting for the after-tax employee contributions and earnings on those contributions. You may NOT roll over after-tax contributions from the Plan to a §403(a) annuity plan, or to a governmental 457 plan. If you want to roll over your after-tax contributions to an employer plan that accepts these rollovers, you cannot have the after-tax contributions paid to you first. You must instruct the Plan Administrator to make a direct rollover on your behalf. Also, you may not first roll over after-tax contributions to an IRA and then roll over that amount into an employer plan.

Roth 401(k) plan deferrals. You may roll over an eligible rollover distribution that consists of Roth deferrals and earnings (whether or not it is a "qualified" Roth distribution) either: (1) by a direct rollover to another Roth 401(k) plan, or to a Roth 403(b) plan, provided the Roth 401(k) plan or the Roth 403(b) plan will accept the rollover; or (2) by a direct or 60-day rollover to a Roth IRA. Alternatively, you can roll over the taxable portion of a non-qualified Roth distribution by a 60-day rollover to a Roth 401(k) plan or to a 403(b) plan. See Section C. "Taxation of Roth deferrals" and "60-day rollover option" below.

30-Day Notice Period/Waiver. After receiving this notice, you have at least 30 days to consider whether to receive your distribution or have the distribution directly rolled over. If you do not wish to wait until this 30-day notice period ends before your election is processed, you may waive the notice period by making an affirmative election indicating whether or not you wish to make a direct rollover. Your distribution then will be processed in accordance with your election as soon as practical after the Plan Administrator receives your election.

B. DIRECT ROLLOVER

Direct rollover process. You may elect a direct rollover of all or any portion of a non-eligible rollover distribution. If you elect a direct rollover, the Plan Administrator will pay the eligible rollover distribution directly to your IRA or to another eligible employer plan (or, in the case of a distribution of Roth deferrals, to a Roth IRA, a Roth 401(k) plan, or a Roth 403(b) plan) which you have designated. Alternatively, for the cash portion of your distribution, if any, the Plan Administrator may give you a check negotiable by the trustee or custodian of the recipient eligible employer plan or IRA. To complete the direct rollover, you must deliver the check to that trustee/custodian. A direct rollover amount is not subject to taxation at the time of the rollover, unless the direct rollover is from a pre-tax account to a Roth IRA. Except for a direct rollover of a pre-tax amount to a Roth IRA, the taxable portion of your direct rollover will be taxed later when you take it out of the IRA or the eligible employer plan. Depending on the type of plan, the later distribution may be subject to different tax treatment than it would be if you received a taxable distribution from this Plan. If you elect a direct rollover, your election form must include identifying information about the recipient IRA or plan.

Treatment of periodic distributions. If your Plan distribution is a series of payments over a period of less than ten years, each payment is an eligible rollover distribution. Your election to make a direct rollover will apply to all payments unless you advise the Plan Administrator of a change in your election. The Plan might not let you choose a direct rollover if your distributions for the year are less than $200. The $200 limit may apply separately to Roth distributions and pre-tax distributions.

Splitting a distribution/small distributions. If your distribution exceeds $500, you may elect a direct rollover of only a part of your distribution, provided the portion directly rolled over is at least $500. If your distribution is $500 or less, you must elect either a direct rollover of the entire amount or payment of the entire amount.

Change in tax treatment resulting from a direct rollover. The tax treatment of any payment from the eligible employer plan or IRA receiving your direct rollover might be different than if you received your benefit in a taxable distribution directly from the Plan. For example, if you were born before January 1, 1936, you might be entitled to ten-year averaging or capital gain treatment, as explained below. However, if you roll over your benefit to a 403(b) plan, a governmental 457 plan, or an IRA, your benefit no longer will be eligible for that special treatment. See the sections below entitled “10% penalty tax if you are under age 59½” and “Special tax treatment if you were born before 1936.”

Taxation of direct rollover of pre-tax distribution to Roth IRA. If you directly roll over a pre-tax distribution to a Roth IRA, the taxable portion of the distribution is subject to taxation for the taxable year in which the distribution occurs (except that a special taxation rule applies to distributions during 2010 that you roll over to a Roth IRA, under which the distribution can be subject to taxation ratably during 2011 and 2012). For distributions before January 1, 2010, you may not roll over a distribution from a pre-tax account to a Roth IRA if your adjusted gross income for the taxable year exceeds $100,000. However, the adjusted gross income limit on direct rollovers from a pre-tax account to a Roth IRA does not apply to distributions after December 31, 2009.

C. DISTRIBUTIONS YOU RECEIVE

Taxation of eligible rollover distributions. The taxable portion of an eligible rollover distribution which you elect to receive is taxable to you in the year you receive it unless, within 60 days following receipt, you roll over the distribution to an IRA or to another eligible employer plan.

Taxation of Roth deferrals.³ If your distribution includes Roth (after-tax) 401(k) plan deferrals, the taxation of the Roth deferrals depends on whether or not the distribution is a qualified distribution. For a distribution of Roth deferrals to be a qualified distribution, you must have satisfied two requirements: (1) the distribution must occur on or after the date you attain age 59½, on or after the date of your death, or on account of your being disabled; and (2) the distribution must occur after the end of the 5th calendar year beginning with the first calendar year for which you made Roth deferrals to the Roth 401(k) plan. If the distribution of Roth deferrals is a qualified distribution, then neither the deferrals nor the earnings distributed on the deferrals will be taxable to you. If the distribution is not a qualified distribution, then the portion of the distribution representing your Roth deferrals will not be taxable to you, but the portion of the distribution representing earnings on the Roth deferrals will be taxable to you in the year you receive the distribution, unless you elect a direct rollover as described in Section B above, or within 60 days following receipt, you roll over the distribution to a Roth IRA, or you roll over the earnings on the Roth deferrals to a qualified plan or to a 403(b) plan, as explained under “60-day rollover option” below.

Withholding on eligible rollover distributions. The taxable portion of your eligible rollover distribution is subject to 20% federal income tax withholding. You may not waive this withholding. For example, if you elect to receive a taxable eligible rollover distribution of $5,000, the Plan will pay you only $4,000 and will send to the IRS $1,000 as income tax withholding. You will receive a Form 1099-R from the Plan reporting the full $5,000 as a distribution from the Plan. The $1,000 withholding amount applies against any federal income tax you may owe for the year. The direct rollover is the only means of avoiding this 20% withholding. Note that taxes and penalties with regard to the distribution may exceed the 20% withheld.

60-day rollover option. The direct rollover explained in Section B above is not the only way to make a rollover. If you receive payment of an eligible rollover distribution, you still may roll over all or any portion of the distribution to an IRA (including a Roth IRA, subject to the limitations described in Section A) or to another eligible employer plan that accepts rollovers, except to the extent the distribution consists of Roth deferrals and earnings on the Roth deferrals. You may roll over the Roth deferrals and earnings on the Roth deferrals to a Roth IRA, or you may roll over only the taxable earnings (if any) on the Roth deferrals (but not the Roth deferrals) to a Roth 401(k) plan or to a 403(b) plan. If you decide to roll over the distribution, you must make the rollover within 60 days of your receipt of the payment. The portion of your distribution which you elect to roll over generally is not subject to taxation until you receive distributions from the IRA or eligible employer plan. However, see “Taxation of direct rollover of pre-tax distribution to Roth IRA,” above.

You may roll over 100% of your eligible rollover distribution even though the Plan Administrator has withheld 20% of the distribution for income tax withholding. If you elect to roll over 100% of the distribution, you must obtain other money within the 60-day period to contribute to the IRA or eligible employer plan to replace the 20% withheld. If you elect to roll over only the 80% which you receive, the 20% withheld will be subject to taxation.

Example. Assume the taxable portion of your eligible rollover distribution is $5,000, and you do not elect a direct rollover. The Plan pays you $4,000, withholding $1,000 for income taxes. However, assume within 60 days after receiving the $4,000 payment, you decide to roll over the entire $5,000 distribution. To make the rollover, you will roll over the $4,000 you received from the Plan and you will contribute $1,000 from other sources (your savings, a loan, etc.). In this case, you will not have any tax liability with respect to the Plan distribution. The Plan will report a $5,000 distribution for the year and you will report a $5,000 rollover. When you file your income tax return, you may receive a refund of the $1,000 withheld. If you roll over only the $4,000 paid from the Plan, the $1,000 you do not roll over is taxable. In addition, the $1,000 you do not roll over may be subject to a 10% penalty tax. See “10 penalty tax if you are under age 59½” below. When you file your income tax return, you still may receive an income tax refund, but the refund likely will be smaller because $1,000 of the distribution is taxable.

Withholding on distributions not eligible for rollover. The 20% withholding described above does not apply to any taxable portion of your distribution that is not an eligible rollover distribution. You may elect whether to have federal income tax withholding apply to that portion. If you do not wish to have any income taxes withheld on that portion of your distribution, or if you wish to have an amount other than 10% withheld, you will need to sign and date IRS Form W-4P, checking the box opposite line 1. The Plan Administrator will provide you Form W-4P if your distribution includes an amount that does not constitute an eligible rollover distribution. If you do not return the Form W-4P to the Plan Administrator prior to the distribution, the Plan Administrator will treat the failure to return the form as an affirmative election to have 10% withholding apply.

10% penalty tax if you are under age 59½. If you receive a distribution from the Plan before you reach age 59½ and you do not roll over the distribution, the taxable portion of your distribution is subject to a 10% penalty tax in addition to any federal income taxes unless an exception applies. For example, the 10% penalty tax does not apply if you separate from service with the Employer during or after the calendar year in which you attain age 55, and then receive a distribution. See IRS Form 5329 for more information on the 10% penalty tax.

If you directly roll over a pre-tax distribution to a Roth IRA, the 10% penalty will not apply to the taxable portion of the distribution. However, if a taxable amount you rolled over into a Roth IRA from a pre-tax account is distributed within five years, the 10% penalty will apply to the distribution as if the distribution were includible in gross income.

The 10% penalty tax will not apply to distributions from a governmental 457 plan, except to the extent the distribution (including earnings) is attributable to an amount you rolled over to that plan from another type of eligible employer plan or IRA. Any amount rolled over from a governmental 457 plan to another type of eligible employer plan or to a traditional IRA will become subject to the additional 10% tax if it is distributed to you before you reach age 59½, unless one of the exceptions applies.

Special tax treatment if you were born before 1936. If your distribution is a “lump sum distribution,” and you were born before 1936, you may elect special treatment, but only if you do not roll over any part of the lump sum distribution. If you roll over only a portion of your distribution to an IRA, a governmental 457 plan, or a 403(b) plan, this special tax treatment is not available for the rest of the payment. A lump sum distribution is a distribution, within one calendar year, of your entire vested account balance (including any nontaxable portion of your distribution) under the Plan (and certain similar plans maintained by the Employer). If you are not a self-employed individual, the distribution must occur after you attain age 59½ or after you have separated from service with the Employer. For a self-employed individual, a lump sum distribution must occur after the self-employed individual attains age 59½ or becomes disabled.

Ten-year averaging. If you receive a lump sum distribution and you were born before 1936, you can make a one-time election to figure the tax on the lump sum distribution under “10-year averaging” using 1986 tax rates. Ten-year averaging often reduces the tax you owe.

Capital gain treatment. If you receive a lump sum distribution, you were born before 1936 and you were a participant in the Plan before 1974, you may elect to have the part of your lump sum distribution attributable to your pre-1974 participation taxed as long-term capital gain at a rate of 20%.

Special tax treatment election and limitations. You must have completed at least five years of active participation in the Plan for special tax treatment to apply to the lump sum distribution election. You may elect special tax treatment (ten-year averaging or capital gain treatment) by filing IRS Form 4972 with your income tax return. The instructions to Form 4972 provide further details regarding the reporting of your lump sum distribution and describe the rules for determining whether a distribution qualifies as a lump sum distribution. As a general rule, you may not elect special tax treatment for a lump sum distribution if you elected ten-year (or previously available five-year) averaging with respect to a prior lump sum distribution you received after December 31, 1986, or after you had attained age 59½. You may not elect this special tax treatment if you rolled amounts into this Plan from a 403(b) plan, from a governmental 457 plan or from an IRA not originally attributable to a qualified employer plan. You also may not elect special tax treatment if you previously rolled over another distribution from the Plan. Finally, you may not elect special tax treatment if you roll over your distribution to an IRA, a governmental 457 plan or a 403(b) plan, and then take a distribution from the IRA, plan or annuity.

Repayment of participant loans. If you have an outstanding participant loan when you separate from service with the Employer, the Employer may reduce (“offset”) your account balance by the outstanding loan balance. The loan offset is a distribution and is taxable to you unless you roll over the amount of the offset within 60 days of the date of the offset. Withholding does not apply if the loan offset is your only distribution. If you receive a distribution of cash or property in addition to the offset, withholding will apply to the entire distribution, but the withholding amount will not exceed the amount of cash or property (other than employer securities) you receive in addition to the offset. You may not roll over the amount of a defaulted plan loan that is a taxable deemed distribution.

Distribution Forms -

Government publications. IRS Publication 575 and IRS Publication 590 provide additional information about the tax treatment of plan distributions and rollovers. These publications are available from your local IRS office, on the IRS’s Internet Website at www.irs.gov, or by calling 1-800-TAX-FORMS.

Employer Securities.⁴ The Code provides a special rule for a distribution which includes Employer securities (i.e., stock of the Employer). In order to take advantage of this special rule: (1) the distribution must qualify as a lump sum distribution; or (2) the Employer stock must be attributable to after-tax employee contributions. Under this special rule, you have the option of not paying the tax on the “net unrealized appreciation” of the stock until you sell the stock. Net unrealized appreciation generally is the increase in the value of the Employer stock while the Plan held the stock. For example, if the Employer contributed Employer stock to your account when the stock was worth $500 but the stock is worth $800 when you receive it, you could elect not to pay the tax on the $300 increase in value until you later sold the stock.

Election against special rule. You may elect not to have the special rule apply to net unrealized appreciation. If you elect not to apply the special rule, your net unrealized appreciation is taxable in the year of distribution, unless you roll over the stock. You may roll over the stock to an IRA or to another eligible employer plan in a direct rollover or a 60-day rollover. Generally, you no longer will be able to use the special rule for net unrealized appreciation if you roll the stock over to an IRA or to another eligible employer plan.

Withholding requirements. If you receive only Employer stock in a distribution that is eligible for rollover, withholding will not apply to the distribution. If you receive cash or property other than Employer stock, as well as Employer stock, in a distribution that is eligible for rollover, the plan will base the 20% withholding amount on the entire taxable amount paid to you (including the value of the Employer stock determined by excluding the net unrealized appreciation). However, the amount withheld will not exceed the cash or property (excluding Employer stock) paid to you.

Income averaging. If you receive Employer stock in a distribution which qualifies as a lump sum distribution, the income averaging election also may apply. See IRS Form 4972 for additional information on these rules.
